

Attenborough Village Bowls Club:

www.attenboroughbowlsclub.co.uk

Current situation:

The website is live on the internet and viewable at the above address. The site is made up of a series of individual pages that you can access from either the main top menu, or the sub-menu on the left.

Text has been provided by Ray and added to the site, also Peter has supplied some images that have been used on various pages.

Questions:

1. Does anybody have access to an electronic copy of the club logo/emblem? (has this been needed when getting badges put onto clothes?)
2. Are any members interested in having the ability/access to edit the text on the website pages? (see below for an explanation)
3. Does any one want to have access to the clubs email account?
info@attenboroughbowlsclub.co.uk

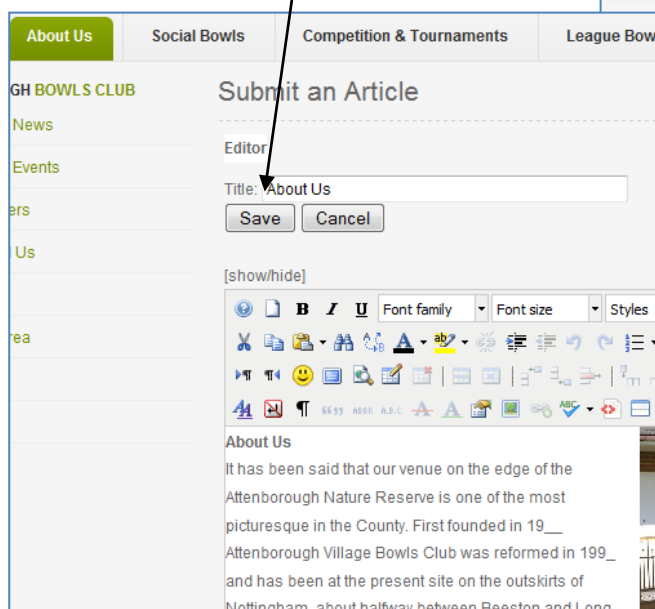

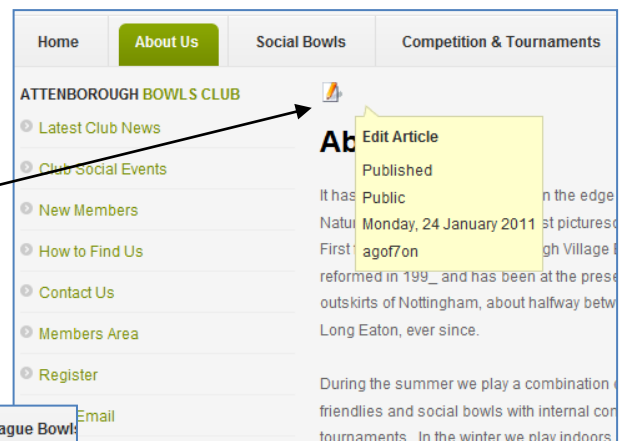

Can the following information be provided:

- Club address, and written directions to the club (if you want to have this info on the site)
- Any events/tournaments/fixtures - schedule or details of these that can be added to the site
- Club news articles (again only if you want to show this)
- Club fees
- Text aimed at new members (for the new members page)
- Any other images (action shots, more of the green/clubhouse)
- Any previous competition results.

Updating Content:

If any members are interested in updating any of the text on the site let me know.

I can set you up with a login account on the site, then after you login you will see a little edit button at the top of every page, clicking on this will open the page in edit mode so you can update the text and then save it again.

Attenborough Bowls Club

It has been said that our venue on the edge of the Attenborough Nature Reserve is one of the most picturesque in the County. First founded in 19__ Attenborough Village Bowls Club was reformed in 199_ and has been at the present site on the outskirts of Nottingham, about halfway between Beeston and Long Eaton, ever since.

During the summer we play a combination of EBA League, friendlies and social bowls with internal competitions and tournaments. In the winter we play indoors at the local Erewash Indoor Bowls Club (web link?) where we have two teams representing the club, and several of our members make up teams that compete on different days during the week.

Whether you are a beginner, an improver or an experienced player wanting to play at a good standard, or somewhere in between why not get in touch? We are a friendly club with a strong social side holding many events throughout the year so why not get in touch and visit us with a view to membership.
